Admission to the Practical Nursing Clinical Program

Admission to the Practical Nursing clinical sequence of courses is limited. The School of Nursing's Practical Nursing Department Admissions Committee reserves the right to select students to be admitted. Admission into the clinical nursing sequence is based upon a student's cumulative GPA in the prerequisite courses. Students who have the highest GPA in the prerequisite courses will be admitted first until the class is filled. Not all students who have met the minimum standards will be admitted if the space is not available.

To be considered for admission into the practical nursing clinical program, students must meet the following qualifications:

1. Must have met all NMU admission requirements and be in good standing.
2. Must have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.0 (C) in all the prerequisite college courses required in the program with no grade below "C". In addition, students must have a cumulative NMU GPA of 2.0.
3. Must have successfully passed all required prerequisite nursing courses after a maximum of two tries. This includes: PN 100, AH 102, PN 103, and NE 212 (if taken prior to admission in the program).

Practical Nursing students will be notified of acceptance or rejection during the summer semester.

Retention in the Nursing Sequence

For a student to remain in the nursing sequence they need to meet the following conditions:

1. Maintain a minimum overall GPA of a 2.0 in all nursing courses and an overall NMU GPA of 2.0. Achieve a C in all nursing classes (NE and PN).
2. Adhere to the University's Student Code and Practical Nursing Student Policies.
3. Demonstrate a pattern of safe clinical practice commensurate with their educational experience to date.
4. Do you understand that the faculty reserves the right to select the applicants who shall be admitted and that action by the Admissions Committee in the Department of Practical Nursing is provisional pending receipt of evidence that all pre-nursing requirements have been met?

_____ Yes

_____ No

I UNDERSTAND THE ABOVE AND BELIEVE THAT I HAVE FULFILLED THE REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION AS SET FORTH BY THE DEPARTMENT OF PRACTICAL NURSING.
